Senior Frontend Developer, RealTrac Technologies   Saint Petersburg
Dec 2017 — Jun 2020

RealTrac (Skolkovo resident) - is a multipurpose and versatile solution that is designed for tracking people and vehicles outdoors and indoors, gathering statistics on movements, providing digital communication and data transmission for mining industry. I work on the frontend part of the project which uses a wide range of technologies, so I gathered competence in areas such as:

- GIS, interactive maps
- SIP/VoIP
- Reports systems
- Notification systems

I have worked on the whole project's refactoring, its migration of React version 15 to version 16 as well as its migration from JavaScript to TypeScript. I updated the project to the latest versions of used libraries and best practices

(TDD, Internationalization). We've started using unit and integration tests (jest + testing-library) from scratch. I also developed new parts of project such Reports Constructor, Connection and Location tracking history.

Over the past two years, I helped to increase the project's performance: fixed memory leaks, raised number of displayed devices on map, handling high load event system based on WebSocket, built better architecture and clean code.

As a senior developer, I take part in sprint planning, prioritizing tasks within sprints, conducting code review, mentoring and interviewing potential candidates.

Technology stack:

- React + Redux
- Leaflet.js + react-leaflet (GIS part)
- jsSIP (SIP)
- Stimulsoft (reports)
- jest + testing-libary (testing tools)
- i18next + react-i18next (Internationalization)
- rxjs + redux-observable (for side effects)
- JavaScript (ES6/ES7) / TypeScript

Frontend Web Developer, MiiiX.org   Saint Petersburg
Mar 2016 — Dec 2017

Worked on a company's public project, e-commerce platform with real-time auctions, its admin panel and side projects.

Technology stack:

- JavaScript (ES6/ES7)
- React.js/Redux
- Sass/CSS Modules
- Webpack
- Server-Side Rendering (Express.js).

Responsible for code refactoring, mobile-first styling and implementing new features.
